

Quincy Barn Quilt Project

Thank you for your interest in the self-guided driving and biking Barn Quilt Tour.

During the summer of 2010 four women, residents of Quincy, brainstormed the concept of producing a Barn Quilt Tour by engaging a diverse group of area residents to plan, collaborate, create and implement a tour of the local area. This agricultural and tourism project was designed to promote community pride, educate viewers about the history of the barns, and attract visitors to benefit local economies. The tour showcases highly visible historical barns by displaying American folk art, in the form of quilt blocks, on an exterior wall of the barns.

It's been a rewarding and educational process and dependent upon the coordination and participation of countless volunteers, sponsors, and the partnerships of local organizations.

We invite you to view our colorful barn quilts along the public roads and highways while enjoying our beautiful rural countryside. There are several areas along these roadsides to safely pull off in order to improve your view and take photographs. All of the historical barns are located on private property.

Please respect and honor the privacy of the property owners by not trespassing.

We are very grateful and appreciative of the generous Grant: California 4-H Youth Development Program Foundation; Sponsors: The Finishing Touch, ICI Paints, Mountain Building Supply, Plumas Bank, Quincy Chamber of Commerce, Quincy Crazy Quilters, Quincy Rotary, and Sierra Pacific Industries; and the Partners: Plumas County Visitors Bureau, Plumas-Sierra County Fairgrounds, Plumas County Museum, Sierra Promotions, Quincy Volunteer Fire Department and Plumas Arts.

In addition to this driving and biking tour, we encourage you to take a walking tour of downtown Quincy and view the unique and vibrant array of small barn quilts created and displayed by the local businesses.
